GRANITE CITY — Ground breaking ceremonies were held Thursday for two buildings in Northgate Industrial Park Number Two. The structures could bring more than 200 jobs to the area.

Northgate Associates, a partnership between Ralph Korte Construction Co. of Highland, Butler Manufacturing of Kansas City, Mo., and Illinois Power Co., sponsored the ceremonies.

NORTHGATE CENTER, one of the buildings being constructed near Illinois 3, will be a 21,600 sq. ft. office and distribution building designed to handle warehouse and office facilities, said David Butler of Korte.

Depending on the user, Butler said, 75 to 125 jobs could be created.

The second building is a 32,370 sq. ft. facility that will serve the industrial user, Butler said. The design and construction of the building will allow the user to adapt the building to its specific requirements, he said.

DEPENDENT on the user, 150 to 175 jobs could be created by this building, Butler said.

Both are scheduled to be completed during this fall, Butler said.

"This is a bit unusual because we're breaking ground on two buildings," said Ralph Korte, president of Korte Construction.

KORTE said he is pleased at the help received from Illinois Power in

Reviews and previews

GC crime rate increases

An 8.1 percent major crime increase in the city was recorded for the first six months of 1986 when compared with 1985 statistics for the same period. Homicide was one of the largest increases with five this year and none last year. A wide range of crimes, including criminal sexual abuse, larceny, robbery and auto theft, also experienced increases for 1986.

Bus drivers being tested

The company that contracts to transport District 9 students has implemented mandatory drug testing for its bus drivers. R.W. Harmon & Sons Inc., is testing all of its drivers, mechanics and managers for drugs and alcohol before this year's school term. About 70 Harmon bus drivers are employed to carry District 9 students.

Spalding named GCHS principal

Ken Spalding, previously principal of Grigsby Jr. High, was named Granite City High School principal last week. Spalding was the unanimous choice of the Board of Education over three other candidates. All are District 9 employees. A replacement for Spalding at Grigsby is expected to be named this week.

50 years ago

Thursday, Aug. 20, 1936

Supervisor Frank Bennett has announced that beginning Sept. 1 he will begin issuing food instead of cash to area relief recipients. Bennett said the township relief fund had been exhausted. In a letter to grocers, he said there were not enough funds on hand to furnish anything but necessities.

Tell it like it is

Q: Should mandatory drug testing be required for certain types of jobs in District 9? If so, what types of jobs?

John Luckert

"I have faith and admiration for our school employees. I'm not against it (drug testing), but I don't think it is necessary right now."

Thelma Lucash

"I think it should be because you never know what is going on. I think that would cut down on that stuff that's causing all the problems. If they start a program like that, they should test everyone."

NEXT WEEK: Should plea bargaining ever be used in murder cases? To record your answer, phone 452-0222 between 5:30 p.m. and 8 a.m. daily. Leave your name, hometown and phone number for verification purposes.

Quote of the week

"Without him, it would have been five times worse," said Granite City resident Jake Parmley about the help of Granite City policeman Nedwin Tapp Jr. in a fire last week at Parmley's home.

Tip of the hat

Granite City police officer Nedwin Tapp Jr. is recognized this week for bravery in a fire last week at the Grand Avenue home of Jake Parmley. Tapp entered the burning home to look for Parmley but could not find him. Thinking Parmley was still inside, Tapp went in a second time, crawling on the floor due to heavy smoke. Tapp eventually found Parmley outside the back door. Tapp, overcome by smoke, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and was released the following day.

BAC reaches accord

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — Faculty members at Belleville Area College are set to receive their first pay increase in two years.

Both the Board of Trustees and BAC members of the American Association of University Professors approved a one-year pact calling for an 8 percent increase in faculty wages.

Trustees ratified the pact by a 4-3 margin Wednesday evening. Approved by a 4-2 margin were 7 percent administrative salary increases.

Voting against both measures were trustees Larry Reinbeck and Elizabeth Jenner. Frances Braswell voted against the teacher contract, but voted present on administrative salaries.

"My objection was that we had a better agreement before," said Jenner. "It was a $1,400 across-the-board increase. I felt it was more equitable."

Jenner was part of a three-member committee in charge of negotiations which reached agreement with the faculty union on a two-year contract in June.

Board OKs teacher contract

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — Negotiations leading to a new two-year agreement between the Venice Board of Education and Local 965 of the American Federation of Teachers apparently have been successful.

The two-year contract proposal calls for first-year increases of 8.3 percent at the top of the salary scale and a 6.2 percent increase at the starting level. It was approved by the board at its meeting Thursday night.

AFT LOCAL 965'S negotiating team is expected to recommend ratification of the contract to union members at a later meeting, it was learned.

Negotiations have been taking place since April.

Ten out of 30 teachers in the Venice School District are currently at the top of the salary schedule, Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

IN THE NEW contract for 1986-87, the top salary for a teacher with a master's degree, plus 16 semester hours and 18 years of service, will rise to $27,400 from the current $25,300.

At the same level, with 19 years of service, the salary will be $29,200 in the second year of the contract (187-483).

Starting pay will be set at $16,900, up $1,000 from the previous agreement.

IN THE SECOND year of the contract, the beginning salary will rise to $18,200.

Vickers said the new salary schedule is not out of proportion with other Madison County school districts and still remains slightly lower than in some school systems.

He cited examples in three districts, including the Madison School District, where starting teacher salaries begin at $19,800.

WOOD RIVER-Hartford Elementary District has a $17,300 beginning salary and starting teachers in the Wood River-East Alton High School District make $18,550 a year, he said.

Executive vice president of First Carolina Communications, Southwestern's parent company.

THE SALE is scheduled to be finalized in November, Smith said. Terms of the sale have not been released.

Presentations concerning the sale are expected to be made in September to the governmental bodies.

FIRST CAROLINA decided to sell Southwestern in an effort to concentrate on holdings in the southeastern part of the country, said Lon Caruth, general manager of First Carolina.

The St. Louis Cardinal Baseball Network would be added to the cable system under Cencom, Smith said.

Southwestern sold to Cencom

GRANITE CITY — Southwestern Cable TV Ltd. of Maryville is being sold to Cencom Cable Associates of St. Louis. Southwestern provides cable service in the Quad-City Area as well as several other Madison County communities.

A tentative agreement has been reached between Southwestern and Cencom, said David Smith, executive vice president of First Carolina Communications, Southwestern's parent company.

THE SALE is scheduled to be finalized in November, Smith said. Terms of the sale have not been released.

Presentations concerning the sale are expected to be made in September to the governmental

Airport must clamor for safety funds

WASHINGTON — The federal bureaucrats whose primary responsibility is the safety of air travelers seem to have put their priorities into a tailspin. They're trying to force a major airport into relaxing its noise standards by withholding federal funds needed to make the airport safer.

The representative whose constituents' eardrums will be assaulted if the airport caves in has accused Federal Aviation Administration bureaucrats of "blackmail." He warns that if the agency gets away with this heavy-handed use of federal safety funds as a weapon, no airport in the country will be able to set noise levels demanded by the community where it is situated.

The congressman is Rep. Tom Lantos, D-Calif., and the airport is San Francisco International. It is located just south of the city in San Mateo County, an area where gracious California living includes backyard barbecues and pool parties on a year-round basis. None of Lantos constituents want their leisure activities drowned out by the roar of jets landing and taking off at the airport across the Bayshore Freeway.

So San Francisco Airport has set permissible noise levels lower than the FAA's national minimum. The levels exclude Boeing 707s, and that's what led to the current controversy.

Burlington Northern Air Freight, a company that relies on 707s, complained to the FAA that it was being discriminated against by not being allowed to use San Francisco International Airport. And the FAA not only agreed with Burlington Northern, but trained its big guns on the airport that had had the impertinence to enforce tougher standards than the agency had set.

Weekly Special

Jack Anderson
& Joseph Spear
United Features

The FAA's chief legal counsel, E. Tazewell Elliott, accused the airport of "flagrant discrimination" in refusing to allow 707s to land, and in one speech told the Dallas-Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce that "we intend to stop that discrimination."

These statements, made at a time when the freight company's complaint was pending before Elliott, infuriated Lantos. He was particularly upset that the FAA's chosen method of stopping the "discrimination" was to withhold $8 million that had been earmarked for such safety measures at the airport as improved runway lighting.

In a letter to FAA administrator Donald Engen, Lantos said: "I wish to re-emphasize my deeply held view that it is bad public policy to attempt to blackmail (the airport) with the threat of withholding funds because of its appropriate attempt to mitigate the horrendous problem of aircraft noise — a nightmare for the tens of thousands of citizens who live nearby."

He noted that "badly needed funds to which the airport is entitled and which are for the safety of the millions of travelers who use the facility" will be withheld unless the airport surrenders to the unacceptable demand that aircraft which do not meet noise standards be allowed to land." Lantos suggested a meeting with Engen, but the administrator refused to discuss the only issue Lantos wanted to bring up.

EXECUTIVE MEMO: Capitol Hill sources say there aren't nearly as many priests and rabbis in the armed forces as the number of Catholic and Jewish servicemen and women would seem to call for. A House bill is pending that would require the Defense Department to correct the imbalance. Pentagon officials claim they are hampered by the limited number of priests and rabbis from which they can recruit military chaplains.

— According to federal law enforcement officials, there are more than 15,000 felony suspects running around free. Of that number, 8,100 are wanted for robbery, 4,200 for murder and 2,500 for sexual assault.

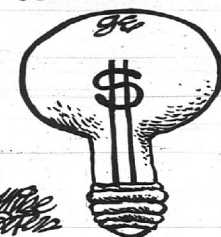

— From 1971 to 1985, the Coast Guard spent about $60 million to clean up onshore and offshore oil spills. This was because about half of the vessel owners responsible for such spills in U.S. waterways managed to escape the cost of cleaning up their mess. Inadequate laws, unidentified perpetrators and clogged courts all contributed to the problem, according to the Transportation Department's inspector general.

— Growing numbers of student aid recipients are using false identities to get the funds, according to Department of Education investigators. A Kansas student, for example, used 18 different names and collected $21,693 before he skipped town. A Maryland student was sent to prison for using 15 aliases to apply for more than $42,000 in financial aid. And a South Dakota student was indicted on charges of impersonating her former roommate to get almost $3,000 in student aid.

TWO CENTS' WORTH: The president and vice president recently volunteered urine samples for drug testing, and it seems every politician in Washington is making a mad dash for the restroom to prove his or her innocence. If only the test detected hog-wash and hunchbuggery.

Driving skill required during blowout

To the editor:

Motorists who panic when a car breaks down on the highway are more likely to cause an accident than those who remain calm. Here are safety tips to follow if your vehicle runs off the pavement or a tire blows out.

If your vehicle accidentally runs off the pavement, or if you are forced off, do not panic. Grip the steering wheel firmly and be ready for sudden shocks.

Take your foot off the gasoline pedal and use the brakes carefully. Slamming on the brakes can cause the vehicle to skid out of control.

Do not attempt to turn back onto the pavement immediately. Wait until your speed has been greatly reduced. Check the traffic behind you, and turn your wheels just sharply enough to get back onto the road safely. Watch for sharp drops off from the pavement to the shoulder.

When turning back onto the pavement, drive slowly enough to avoid crossing the centerline into oncoming traffic or traveling across the road into the opposite ditch.

If a tire blows out, do not apply the brakes. Hold the steering wheel firmly, take your foot off the gas pedal and let the car coast to a stop. Do not turn onto the shoulder of the road until the car is almost stopped. If a blowout causes the car to swerve onto the shoulder, do not try to get back onto the road.

Venice tax rate may not change

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — Little change in next year's anticipated municipal tax rate of $2.04 on each $100-assessed valuation is expected, City Attorney Lawrence Hartman said.

The Venice City Council suspended the rules and adopted its 1986-87 tax levy after first reading Tuesday night.

THE NEW TAX LEVY of $289,432 for collection in the summer of 1987 is down by $17,877 from last year's $307,309 levy.

A decrease is levied only in the city's police pension fund, down by $18,877, while the audit fund levy is higher by $1,000, at $4,350.

Tax levies in the city's 10 other funds remain the same as last year.

"This is strictly a 'guesstimate' but our assessed valuation may be up a little," the city attorney said. "It may be about $16 million in 1986," he added.

ASSESSED VALUATION in 1985.

on which taxes are now being collected, was about $15.5 million, Hartman said. The real estate assessment base related to next summer's tax collection will not be known until 1987.

Amounts levied for various city funds, with last year's amounts noted in parentheses, are:

General — $54,000 (same); streets — $16,000 (same); police protection — $24,000 (same); auditing — $4,350 (up $1,000); street lighting — $8,000 (same); firefighting — $24,000 (same); garbage — $32,000 (same); police pension fund — $45,000 (down $18,877); library — $24,000 (same); municipal retirement — $54,012 (same); Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (civil defense) — $870 (same); and school crossing guards — $3,200 (same).

An appropriation ordinance totaling $1,534,154 for the 1986-87 fiscal year was approved by the city council in July.

Night Lights.

Protect Your Home from Crime
With an Illinois Power Nite-Lite

There are all kinds of night lights. Fireflies. Campfires. Twinkling stars. Or, police cars. But, one of the most welcome night lights is the security and safety provided by an Illinois Power Nite-Lite. It's an inexpensive way to help crimeproof your home and property, and put the spotlight on criminals.

Illinois Power Nite-Lite rentals start at less than $5.50 a month. The charge covers installation, maintenance and electricity. Often, this is less than the cost of the electricity alone used by similar customer-owned lights. So, light up and rest easier with an IP Nite-Lite.

A Free, Helpful Booklet

There are many ways to protect your home. Some are as simple as making sure ALL of your doors and windows are locked.

Find out more ways to crimeproof your home today with this free 18-page booklet.

State cracks down on loans

A new law focuses on state loan "deadbeats" and another increases the scholarship award for undergraduate students.

House Bill 2252 permits the comptroller to deduct from state income tax refunds any student loans and other education financial aid obligations that are past due. The comptroller's Office will notify each defaulter of refund reductions in a written statement explaining the offset.

"Nearly a million and a half Illinoisans have received a total of more than $3 billion in guaranteed state loans to help them continue their college education during the past 25 years. Overwhelming number of these people have repaid their loans on time and in good faith," Gov. James R. Thompson said.

"But the 90,000 individuals who have turned their backs on their obligations, failing to repay guaranteed loans, jeopardize new loans to students who need the same financial boost today to continue their education.

"This new law will give Illinois the ability to recover the loans from those who benefitted from them in the past, and to ensure that the loan program will be there for students needing it in the future."

Thompson also signed Senate Bill 1608, increasing from $2,850 to $3,100 the scholarship award for full-time undergraduate students and from $1,425 to $1,550 for part-time students.

"The increase in scholarship awards is an appropriate and telling reflection of Illinois' commitment to higher education," Thompson said. "The awards have increased every year, more than doubling since I first took office in 1977."

"To help these young adults get the finest education possible is to ensure opportunities for their future and, in so doing, we secure our own future and the future of Illinois," the governor said.

"The federal government realized great success in recovering delinquent loans, utilizing powers similar to those given to the comptroller under HB 2552."

Another provision of HB 2552 will limit to 25 percent of net wages the amount the comptroller can withhold from a state employee's salary to offset state debt. The limit will ensure that employees are not deprived of all income while repaying debts to the State.

Both laws are effective Jan. 1, 1987.

In other action, the governor approved House Bill 2816, which mandates the Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities to study the needs of people suffering from autism to determine what services they might require. The report must be submitted to the General Assembly by Jan. 11, recommending service and a plan of action.

CONSIDERING HER OPTIONS: Debbie Wallis, Granite City, looks over the schedule of classes at SIUE during fall quarter registration. Miss Wallis is a freshman majoring in elementary education. Registration will resume Sept. 15 and continue through Sept. 21, according to the SIUE Office of Admissions and Records, 692-2720.

Understating car price to cut tax can be hazardous to your freedom

A second group of individuals has been charged with filing fraudulent used car tax returns, State Revenue Director J. Thomas Johnson announced at a news conference in Chicago.

Fourteen persons from four counties were charged in mid-August with evading taxes by understating the actual cost of vehicles they purchased. An additional 16 persons had been charged June 9 with similar offenses.

In announcing the prosecutions, the state revenue chief said he hopes these continuing enforcement efforts will get the message across that the state means business.

"For those who are tempted to cheat, you can pay us now—or you can pay us a stiff price later, when we add on the penalties and interest. The costs will be even greater if you have to add in court costs and lawyers' fees when we prosecute you, not to mention the public embarrassment."

"The taxpayer is somewhat 'on his honor' to give us the correct price paid. And some people just can't seem to resist the temptation to cheat a bit to save themselves a dollar or two," Johnson said.

"I'd like to once again remind people that we are using an outside firm to do a computer comparison of the amounts people say they paid for a vehicle against what the values of that particular make or model should be. We hope there will be fewer individuals in the future who will give in to this temptation. Those we have filed charges against so far have found that it certainly wasn't worth it."

The charges involve the state's Motor Vehicle Use Tax, commonly called the "used car tax," a 5 percent tax on vehicles sold between individuals.

This tax, which became effective Oct. 1, 1985, applies to cars, trucks, vans, motor homes, buses, motorcycles, pedalcycles and other motor vehicles.

The purchaser files the tax return and pays the tax at the same time he or she applies with the secretary of state for the new license and title for the vehicle.

Latest examples included: John D. Adachi, 30, Palatine. Vehicle purchased was a 1975 Buick. Stated price was $675. Actual price was $2,000.

John D. Moberg, 38, Chicago. The vehicle, purchased for Checker Taxi Co., was a 1983 Chevrolet. Stated price: $100. Actual price: $3,500.

William and Kathleen Yasidick, Deerfield. Vehicle purchased was a 1983 Ford. Stated price: $4,900. Actual price: $7,200. William is 64 and Kathleen is 60.

Kenneth A. Binkley, 42, Wheaton. Vehicle purchased was a 1981 BMW. Stated price: $1,200. Actual price: $8,000.

Ferdinand Braithwaite, 29, Waukegan. Vehicle was a 1980 Toyota. Stated price: $500. Actual price: $2,500.

David Von Miller, 28, Olney. Vehicle was a 1983 Chevrolet pickup. Stated price: $5,000. Actual price: $7,000.

Fraudulent filing of a used car tax return is a class A misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $1,000 and/or up to a year in jail.

Investigations into the cases are being handled by revenue agents from the Illinois Department of Revenue. Prosecution is being handled by the Illinois attorney general's office, with the cooperation of the county state's attorneys.

MAN CHARGED WHEN AUTO

HITS PARKED VAN AND MAN. Andrew W. Wiley, 40, of 2026 Washington Ave., was charged at 9:16 p.m. Aug. 19 by Granite City police with driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving and failing to secure a new registration.

Wiley was said to be northbound on Washington Avenue at a high speed when his car hit the rear of a van parked at 2033 Washington, occupied by Hazel Modrusic, 33, of 2132 Lee Ave.

chief elected officials, a master plan for joint use of Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, will be reviewed.

It will be the first time that elected officials from Illinois and Missouri take joint action on the Scott proposal.

Not a rehash of the Columbia-Waterloo airport proposal of the 1970s, the Scott plan is intended to provide additional airport capacity within the region by supplementing Lambert Field.

The proposal is to prepare an airport master plan and environmental assessment for joint cargo-military use of Scott. The Illinois Department of Transportation is applying for $900,000 from the Federal Aviation Administration to fund the project. Total cost of the study is $1 million, with IDOT funding $100,000 of the total.

Robert York, of the Illinois Department of Transportation, will make the presentation.

"By developing this airport for cargo operations, IDOT feels that some air cargo operations can be relocated from Lambert Field to Scott, thereby freeing up additional capacity at Lambert for passenger service," York said. "They also expect to attract major small-package carriers not now serving the St. Louis area."

"The master plan and environmental assessment will provide local officials with the information they need to develop the practicality, feasibility and necessity of joint-use development."

Taxing bodies to lose thousands in interest

Failure to request their shares of interest earnings on undistributed property taxes, as provided by law, apparently will cost some Madison County taxing district thousands of dollars this year.

Instead, the unclaimed interest will be applied toward operation and maintenance of the county jail during the fiscal year beginning Dec. 1, as the law provides.

The county last year earned almost $587,200 in interest on 1984 taxes between the time they were collected in 1985 and their distribution to taxing bodies.

Robert D. DiPaolo, office manager for the county treasurer's office, estimated the county this year will earn only about 70 percent as much interest on 1985 taxes now being collected, or about $411,000.

DiPaolo said he expects interest earnings to be lower because interest rates are lower and because the treasurer's office has distributed taxes to taxing bodies more quickly this year.

He said he expects only about a third, at most, of the interest earnings to be claimed by taxing bodies.

Few of the county's 160 taxing bodies have requested the interest earnings this year and some of those failed to meet the deadline for such requests.

Under the law, a taxing body each year must request its share of the earnings "within 30 days prior to the due date of the first (tax) installment." DiPaolo said there is a question over what that provision means. He said Michael S. Henkhaus, county treasurer, is seeking clarification of the law.

The deadline for the first installment of 1985 taxes was June 16. DiPaolo said it is clear that several requests received by the treasurer's office after that date were too late, but he said it is unclear whether the law requires such requests to be on file 30 days before the first due date—May 19—or whether they could be filed until June 16.

DiPaolo said five taxing bodies filed requests during the 30-day period ending June 16 and the validity of those requests is undetermined. The requests were filed by the Warden School District, the village of Hartford, Lewis and Clark Community College District, the city of Highland and the city of Edwardsville.

Two requests—by the Granite City

School District and the Belleville Area College District—were filed before Jan. 1 and apparently are invalid as being filed too early, he said.

A spokesman for Granite City schools said Friday a legal appeal is likely to be filed, since it is believed the filing by District 9 in December 1985 met the requirements.

Seventeen taxing bodies filed requests between Jan. 1 and May 19 and are clearly entitled to their share of the earnings, DiPaolo said.

Those include the village of East Alton, Godfrey Township, the Highland School District, Olive Township, New Douglas Township, Lee Township, the Alhambra Community Fire Protection District and several other small taxing districts in eastern Madison County.

Other taxing bodies either failed to make a request by June 16 or made no request, he said.

For some, the loss could be substantial. Last year, the Alton School District collected $62,907 as its share of the interest earnings. The Bethalto School District last year collected $10,127. The Granite City School District collected $30,345. The Collinsville School District collected $36,659. All are among taxing bodies which apparently will collect nothing this year.

Based on the estimate that this year's interest earnings will be about 70 percent of last year's, the Alton School District, for example, would lose about $44,000.

The law that set up procedures for distribution of interest earnings to local taxing bodies was enacted by the General Assembly in 1984, following an Illinois Supreme Court ruling in 1983 that counties could not keep the interest they earned on taxes collected for other taxing bodies. Prior to that decision, counties routinely retained the earnings.

DiPaolo said there may have been confusion among the taxing districts because, last year, districts which requested and received interest earnings had to abate their next annual levies by a like amount.

That provision of the law, however, was repealed effective Jan. 1, 1986.

Perhaps because of that provision, only 14 taxing districts applied for interest earnings on 1984 taxes paid last year.

Charity 'casino nights' legalized

Gov. James R. Thompson last week signed legislation Tuesday legalizing casino night fund-raisers for charity, beginning Sept. 1.

He signed Senate Bill 1552 at St. Patrick's High School, Chicago, one of the many organizations which had sought to legalize casino nights. Numerous charitable and educational groups sponsor the rights to raise much-needed dollars to meet budgetary demands and hold the line on tuitions for private or religious school.

"These types of fund-raisers provide a vital source of funding for some schools and churches," he said. "It's an enjoyable and relatively painless way for members to give money, and it's a successful method of drawing donations from non-members as well."

"At the same time, the new law puts strict limits on such games and regulates their operation."

"This law provides for state control, including criminal background checks of those running the games," Thompson said. "And it provides tough penalties for those violating the law."

The new law authorizes qualified religious, charitable and educational organizations to hold up to four evenings of casino night fund-raisers each year.

It allows use of any of 14 casino-type games, including roulette, blackjack, poker, gin rummy, pull tabs and craps. Slot machines or other coin-operated games are prohibited, however.

To qualify, an organization must be designated as not-for-profit by the Internal Revenue Service.

A copy of the IRS 501(c)(3) letter—a document certifying the not-for-profit, educational, religious or charitable status of an organization—must be submitted by the organization along with its application for state license.

Qualified organizations can obtain annual licenses for these events from the Illinois Department of Revenue at cost of $200. Applications must be received by the department at least 30 days in advance of the game.

Persons or businesses supplying gaming equipment for casino nights or renting space to be used for such games also must be licensed by the state.

All players and operators must be at least 18 years old.

In addition, all game operators must be volunteers, members or employees of the organization who are not paid for operating the games.

Players must use chips or play money provided by the sponsoring organization. Winners can receive either merchandise, such as toasters or radios, or up to $250 in cash.

The law provides for a 3 percent state tax on game proceeds, with a third of that amount going to local law enforcement agencies. The remainder is to be divided among the Department of Revenue, Department of State Police and the attorney general's office for law enforcement purposes.

Game profits must be used by the organizations to support their general goals, such as education or charity work.

The governor said the legislation gives individual communities the option of banning such games within their corporate limits.

He also noted SB 1552 contains a "sunset" provision which requires the General Assembly to review the law within two years to determine if legalized casino nights should be continued.

Smith

Mrs. "Jim" Edwin Smith Jr., 15, of 411 W. Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell, died at 7:45 p.m. Friday, Aug. 22, 1986, of injuries sustained in an accident on the Sixth Street exit leading from Interstate 70 in St. Louis.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Keith Branson, 21, of the 400 block of W. Chain of Rocks Road. Branson was eastbound on the highway at a high rate of speed when he tried to exit at Sixth Street and apparently lost control of the car, which struck a concrete retaining wall. St. Louis police said.

Ground broken

"They're truly people who put their money where their mouth is when it comes to industrial development," he said.

Korte also acknowledged First Granite City National Bank and Central Bank of Granite City for their cooperation in the project.

"OTHER CIVIC and business leaders who attended the ground breaking were pleased with the economic progress being made."

"This is a tremendous tool for economic development," said R.C. Bush, executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

CRUSE VOLUNTEERED the city as a fourth member in the partnership.

Illinois Power assistant vice president Carl Mathias said he was pleased with the "cooperative spirit" shown by the partnership.

"We in this region keep on fighting with ourselves, nothing's going to happen," he said.

ALDERMEN Lloyd Bailey, Sam Whimer, Everett Morien and Sharon Perjak also attended the ceremonies.

"Something like this is going to help the city out," Bailey said. "It's going to make other people come in."

"This is good," Whimer said.

"My impression is that the first contract was better because it distributed the pay raise equally. It had provisions for early retirement."

The one-year contract provides faculty members with an average step increase of $1,961.

Cancellor Bruce Wissore said the one-year contract provided flexibility to adjust to uncertain enrollment trends at the school.

"A second year would have made it impossible for the district to adjust workload and salaries to fit financial needs," Wissore said.

"ALL OF THE partners involved in this deserve applause," Skubish said. "This is a giant step in Granite City history."

The City Council issued $2.5 million in bonds July 1 for construction of the two buildings and a new 22,500-square-foot building for the new home of Specialized Services Inc. in the park.

That facility, being constructed behind Heitman Steel, is expected to be completed in November.

At a luncheon following the ground breaking, held at Charlie's Restaurant, Korte said he liked to build in Granite City due to the good relations he has experienced with local labor.

creases in faculty contracts at BAC have been the lowest in Illinois, Wissore said. During that same time, the college has attained 10-year accreditation and built up a $2 million fund balance, he said.

Most of the fund balance will be expended on improvements at the district's three campuses. It could be exhausted by the end of this fiscal year because of those expenditures, Wissore said.

"BAC teachers are excellent. They deserve a pay increase this year," Wissore said.

Build Illinois expanded

Approving nearly $24 million in appropriations for Build Illinois projects in Southern Illinois for fiscal year 1987, Gov. James R. Thompson on Aug. 21 predicted the second year of the massive effort to enhance economic development will result in a significant boost to Southern Illinois.

"Build Illinois is assisting local efforts to diversify and achieve long-term growth in the economy," the governor said. "These appropriations will strengthen the infrastructure and prepare the state for an even brighter future."

"The economy of Southern Illinois will be bolstered by $13 million in new Build Illinois projects for the second year of the program, and the nearly $10.7 million reapportioned from fiscal 1986 projects. The total is $23,688,700."

New projects include $1.2 million to the Township of Caseyville for wastewater treatment facilities; $723,400 to the Village of Caseyville for water system improvements; $900,000 for construction of a highway between Highway 150 and Illinois 157 in Madison County; $1 million for water and sewer system renovations in Harrisburg; $500,000 to Olney for replacement of a spillway on Borah Lake; $1 million to Anna for improvements to the sewage system; $400,000 to Mt. Vernon for sewer improvements; $150,000 to Effingham for sewer improvements; and $100,000 for a building project at Frontier College in Fairfield.

In total, Thompson approved more than $641 million in Build Illinois appropriations for fiscal 1987. He approved $361,750,100 in new appropriations for 1987 and $279,507,400 in reapportionments to permit continuation of Build Illinois projects begun in fiscal 1986.

The General Assembly had passed $345 million for Build Illinois, and the governor used his veto power to reduce the total to nearly $362 million, "a level that corresponds to the resources available. Resources for Build Illinois are fixed by statute, and spending cannot exceed available revenues," he said.

"Build Illinois has sent a message across this nation and even the world that Illinois is a good place to do business."

Our economy has prospered from state assistance speeding the construction of highways, building sewer systems for business expansion, retraining Illinois workers for tomorrow's jobs, and bringing dozens of other projects to both rural and metropolitan areas.

"While some of these projects will have their most significant impact in the geographic region where the work is done, the value of all of them will be felt statewide," Thompson said.

"For instance, the $27.5 million available for wastewater treatment plants throughout the state will benefit specific communities, but the spin-off of revenues generated by new industries attracted by the infrastructure improvements is a plus for all of the Illinois economy."

In addition to the wastewater treatment funds, statewide appropriations include $20 million for renovation of university campuses; $33.8 million in loans to businesses; $29.3 million for road access needed by new industrial plants; $3 million for control soil erosion; and $7 million for infrastructure improvements tied to job creation.

Additionally, there are $6 million for small business incubators, $4 million in recreation grants, $2 million in library grants, $5 million in coal utilization, $4 million in flood control and $29 million for construction of a new state library and other projects.

"Again this year, we will continue to start projects as quickly as possible but always within the constraints of our available funds," Thompson said.

"In all cases we have attempted to be fair with the selection of projects. No area of the state has been given an advantage, and the projects reduced or eliminated were selected in consultation with leaders of both parties in the General Assembly and their caucuses."

Madison Community Unit District 12 is beginning the school year with a united effort to help students succeed. Student motivation is one of the prime goals of the district this year.

Andrew Williams, curriculum generalist, Education Service Region 16, Illinois State Board of Education, presented the keynote address at the district's annual opening in-service training day for teachers on Monday.

Dr. Williams' presentation begins the second phase of the district's long plan on student motivation.

Dr. James Cick, consultant, Life Skills Training Institute, Chicago, opened the student motivation campaign here at the end of the 1985-86 school year. He outlined research findings on successful teaching techniques for teachers in the Madison district that can help pupils succeed.

The faculty and administration of each school will go into effect to help students be successful, set realistic goals, and develop personal responsibility. After methods are identified, a timeline will be developed to monitor progress in achieving the mission.

Several changes in staff assignments will go into effect during this school year. Daniel Kostencki, former high school principal, has become an administrative assistant to the superintendent and will become superintendent in January 1987. Arthur Carter moved from St. Peter School to the Young Years will begin on Sept. 2 for three-year-olds and on Sept. 3 for four-year-olds. The school is located at St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, 2101 Cleveland Blvd.

Three-year-olds will attend Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and four-year-olds will attend Tuesday and Thursday from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

Enrollment is filled at the present, but applications are being taken at the church office for the waiting list.

Linda Williams and Darlene Bozard are the teachers. Bozard has returned to the school after several years' absence to fill the position vacated by Lou Ann Hollis.

Anyone with a child registered for the fall classes is encouraged to attend class with the child for the entire first day.

Repairs planned at main GC lock

The 1200-foot main chamber at Locks No. 27, Granite City, will be closed contingently for approximately three days beginning at 7 a.m. Sept. 3.

This closure is necessary so that maintenance personnel can make repairs to the lower east wall miter and supporting machinery, James Peterson, chief, Operations Division, Army Engineer Corps District, said.

The 600-foot auxiliary lock chamber will remain open to traffic during the closure period. All tows desiring multiple lockage through the auxiliary lock must furnish their own helper boat assistance.

"All vessel owners and operators are requested to cooperate and follow the directions of the lockmaster or his representative during this period of main lock closure. Maximum effort will be made to minimize delays to navigation."

Japanese 'diplomat' will visit festival in St. Louis

A Japanese diplomat will visit St. Louis during the Japanese Festival at the Missouri Botanical Garden. But the visitor will not be wearing a dark blue suit with a medal-laden sash and smoking a cigar.

This ambassador is diminutive, 37-year-old Sachiyo Ito, one of the country's finest and best-known Japanese dancers.

Originally from Tokyo but now living in New York City, will perform traditional and contemporary Japanese dances at the festival, Aug. 23 through Sept. 1. (See Japanese Festival calendar for performance times.) It will be her third appearance in the Japanese Festival.

But money and applause are not the principal reasons behind her appearances. Ito says she wants to be a cultural ambassador and help bridge artistic gaps between the East and the West.

Ito and her dance company also will perform contemporary works choreographed by Ito. Poems inspire much of Ito's choreography. She combines old and new world together for a modern synthesis of eastern and western theatrical modes.

Eastern dances, unlike western styles, require less movement. Choreographers of eastern dances take the essence of movement to create the core of a message.

One example of eastern dance familiar to westerners is kabuki. Ito, who weaves kabuki into her dance performances, said this style of dancing was founded by women in the 17th century. But women later were banned from performances and since the mid-17th century, kabuki theater has been comprised of male performers. Outside the theater, however, men taught women the style of dancing.

In addition to her performances, Ito will conduct workshops for children. There will be sessions on Aug. 29 from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. and 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the Japanese garden. The fee for each session is $3. The workshops are open for children ages 6 to 10. Reservations are limited. Call (314) 577-5125.

The workshops will introduce children (parents also are invited, Ito says) to ben odori, a folk dance that can be traced to a Buddhist ceremony. Dances were performed to welcome spirits of ancestors back into their homes.

"But in Japan, it has been mixed with folk belief," Ito says. For more information about the Japanese Festival, call (314) 577-5198.

Whole lotta stompin' going on

Money raised benefited River Bluff Industries Inc., a non-profit sheltered workshop for handicapped workers.

Chicago Jazz Festival attracts U.S., European musicians

Grant Park in Chicago will swing with the music of Sara Vaughan, George Benson and others during the eighth annual jazz festival, Aug. 27 through 31. The festival attracted 200,000 fans last year, says Margaret Jones, director of publicity for the Chicago Mayor's Office of Special Events. Even more visitors, many from out-of-state, are expected this year, she says. "We have a Tourist Hospitality Center on the grounds and visitors can go there and show an out-of-state driver's license and get a free poster of Chicago," Jones said. Visitors also will be able to buy a souvenir festival program with biographies of performers and information about Chicago for $1. "It's a keepsake many visitors would want to pick up," Jones says. Other artists scheduled to perform at the festival include Joe Williams, Cab Calloway and Ellis Marsalis. However, for the first time, this year's festival also will feature many international jazz performers, Jones says. Jones, who recently returned from London and Paris, says the popularity of jazz in Europe has increased and Europeans are famililar with the part Chicago plays on the American jazz scene.

"They know Chicago for blues and jazz and (for offering) the largest free festivals in the world," she says. The festival grounds will have restrooms and refreshments and an area called the Cajun Food Cafe, which will feature nine of Chicago's finest restaurants, Jones says.

Jones promises that visitors will have plenty of parking near Grant Park, which is off Michigan Avenue. But she says the best way to get to the park is via public transportation. Special buses will be available to take jazz fans to Grant Park and home after the event.

Jones also suggested visitors consider accommodations at hotels that are within walking distance of Grant Park. Several hotels are offering weekend packages, including the Blackstone, Essex Inn and Hilton - all of which are on Michigan Avenue within two blocks of the park.

For information on special rates, call the Blackstone at (312) 427-4300, Essex Inn (800) 621-6909 and the Hilton at (800) HILTONS.

Holiday events planned for Springfield

More than 125 women golfers will compete for a share of the LPGA Rail Charity Classic's $200,000 purse. Beginning Aug. 29, 224 amateurs will play with professionals during the Coca-Cola Pro 'Am. Competition heats up Aug. 30 with the start of the 54-hole classic. The player's cut comes the evening of Aug. 31, with the 18-hole championship round at the Rail Golf Club on Labor Day.

The 115th edition of Ringling Brothers, Barnum and Bailey Circus will come to the Prairie Capital Convention Center in Springfield Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1. This will be the only central Illinois of "The Greatest Show on Earth" appearance this year. Ticket prices are $6.50, $7.50 and $9 and are available through Ticketmaster or by calling (217) 788-0814. va. Admission to the festival is free. Professional motorcycle racers compete in the Pro Short Track Motorcycle Races at the Springfield Speedway Aug. 30. Gates open at 6 p.m., racing begins at 8

In Ozark Mountain Country Sportsmen, Families Return To Resorts

By Ed Wales
Special To The Journal

When you turn south off Interstate 44 in southwest Missouri, you'll see the Ozark Mountains that rise as if protecting the upcoming White River Valley. These rugged hills wander east and west from Springfield, Mo. and then south into Arkansas.

This is Ozark Mountain Country, a vacation destination that has relaxed and entertained millions of visitors for more than 70 years.

The region's history goes back to early pioneers and the "hill people" still exert a strong influence on Ozark Mountain Country's personality.

Nestled in these hills are villages and towns, most of which adjoin the many lakes and streams that soften this rugged region. Although Springfield, Ozark Mountain Country's northern gateway, is a modern manufacturing and college city of 170,000, few other communities in the area boast of populations more than a few hundred. An exception is Branson.

In 50 years, Branson has evolved from a river landing and railroad stop to the unofficial capital of the Ozarks. The city progressed from humble beginnings to a resort center of more than 3,000 people. Branson ranks fourth in the state in retail sales per tourism, an industry that also affects economies of neighboring towns by as much as 85 percent. But the area's natural beauty has not been sacrificed during this growth in tourism. Ozark residents are proud of this and marketing surveys indicate that the chief reason people visit can be attributed to the area's beauty and personality.

And Ozark Mountain Country's location within the White River network of lakes and streams is a major factor in the area's tourism picture. Branson and its sister city, Hollister, lie on the banks of Lake Taneycomo whose nearby headwaters flow from Table Rock Dam. In turn, Table Rock Lake twists and turns west for 56 miles with its headwaters ending at Beaver Dam near the quaint resort community of Eureka Springs, Ark.

Lake Taneycomo was formed when Empire District Electric Company built the first power producing dam and reservoir west of the Mississippi on the White River between Forsyth and Branson in 1913.

Lakeside resorts emerged along its shores and by the 1920s, Forsyth, Hollister and Branson began to harvest tourism dollars.

In the middle of these three communities, the tiny lakeside village of Rockaway Beach soon gained a spreading reputation. With its cottages and cabins, dance hall, boat rides and swimming island, vacationers began to flock onto Beach Boulevard, the village's boardwalk. Rockaway Beach soon became well known as a school trip destination and its concept as a family recreation area is maintained today.

As tourism grew, the Corps of Engineers built more dams on the White River. The need for flood control and cheaper electricity led to the construction of Bull Shoals and Table Rock lakes as well as the more distant Norfolk and Beaver lakes.

Table Rock's higher elevation changed Lake Taneycomo from a warm-water lake to an impoundment with a year-round water temperature too cold for most water sports.

In the meantime, tourism began to expand in two ways. Fishermen thronged to Bull Shoals and the lake soon gained a reputation as the hottest black bass lake in the country. At the same time, vacationers discovered the clear waters and clean shores of Table Rock Lake.

But fishermen aren't the only people who enjoy tourism attractions in Ozark Mountain Country. Family entertainment sites were introduced to the area in the 1950s when the Herschend family purchased Marvel Cave west of Branson.

From that beginning, the family developed famed Silver Dollar City. Now the largest single employer catering to tourism in Ozark Mountain Country (nearly 1,500 employees maintain this Ozark theme park), Silver Dollar City is recognized for its originality and cleanliness. New exhibits and rides are added yearly.

During this westward growth, The Shepherd of the Hills site bloomed into a major attraction. As the tourism explosion continued, four musicians struggled to stage an Ozark music and comedy show. The Moore brothers called themselves the Baldknobbers. The Baldknobbers were a vigilante group who patrolled the Ozark Mountains handing out their brand of law and order. Today, the Baldknobbers are surrounded by some 20 music show, concert facilities and dinner clubs that range from large, air-conditioned theaters to several amphitheaters holding approximately 7,500 people.

In Ozark Mountain Country, there's more to do than time to do it in. It's a family vacation area where kids and adults can find pleasant and memorable activities to fill each night and day. It's also rated as the friendliest resort area in America. It's a place you'll want to visit again.

Alumnus Manages 'Homestead'

Jerry Coffelt

Gary Snadon

An original member of The Shepherd of the Hills Outdoor Theatre cast is leading the way this season at the popular Ozarks attraction.

As a high school senior, Jerry Coffelt of Hollister helped construct the original set of the theater 26 years ago. He also starred in two roles that first season in the outdoor drama.

Coffelt worked in the publicity department at the attraction from 1966 to 1974. In 1978, he became administrator and business manager for Shepherd of the Hills Homestead and Outdoor Theatre.

In 1985, he left the Shepherd of the Hills attraction to become general manager of Roark Vacation Resort, which is owned by Gary Snadon. At the same time, Coffelt also supervised construction of another Snadon project, the Shepherd of the Hills Expressway.

When Snadon purchased The Shepherd of the Hills Homestead and Outdoor Theatre, Coffelt, now 44, was named general manager of the homestead when it was purchased by Snadon.

Snadon, 46, also was cast in the drama "The Shepherd of the Hills." Snadon, who moved to Branson in 1965, purchased the popular tourist attraction last fall.

Although he started in the Ozarks as a teacher, Snadon's business career included insurance, finance and commercial developments. He currently is manager of a savings and loan in Branson, representative of several insurance companies and owner and developer of Roark Vacation Resort.

Coffelt's business pursuits are coupled with a variety of community activities, including terms as mayor and alderman of Hollister, past vice president of the Branson/Lakes Area Chamber of Commerce, president of the Hollister School District Board of Education and activities with the Taney County Republican Central Committee.

He and his wife, Lea Ann, have been married 18 years. They have one daughter, Angi.

Snadon and his wife, Pat, have two daughters, Shawna and Sharenna.

Auto Show Buys DeWitt Roadster

Ozarks Auto Show in Branson has acquired a DeWitt roadster. Production of DeWitt automobiles began in January of 1909, an inspiration of Virgil L. DeWitt.

When the first car was shown to the press, it was acclaimed by the local newspaper as a "handsome red lazz buggy."

The DeWitt story came to an untimely end in May of the next year when the factory was gutted by fire. Almost all records were lost in the flames, but it is believed that DeWitt assembled about 200 vehicles before the fire. Today, there is only one original DeWitt known to exist.

The new DeWitts trace their beginnings to 1913 when Russell Egold, now president of DeWitt Motor Company, constructed a replica DeWitt for a local parade. Eight years later he joined forces with Steve Farringer, now vice president of DeWitt, and the pair began building the only replica high-wheeled autos in the world.

Alton as well as Collinsville seeking state tourism funds

The long delayed request by the Great Alton/Twin Rivers Growth Association Convention Bureau to be officially "certified" for state tourism funds now "looks positive," a state official said.

The bureau seeks to promote tourism in Madison, Jersey, Greene, Calhoun and Macoupin counties.

The certification request has been pending with the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) since April.

DCCA Legislative Affairs Director State McClure said he had been authorized to say approval of the application now appears "positive."

Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, who sent a letter to DCCA Director Jay Hedges this month asking for a prompt response on the certification issue, also said McClure told him that Hedges had told him to say "it looks very good."

"There should be an answer within the next few days," McClure added.

In addition to Vadalabene, Rep. Jim McPike, D-Alton, and Rep. Tom Ryder, R-Jerseyville, have been urging DCCA to certify the bureau so it will be eligible for a share of a $2 million annual tourism promotion fund.

The bureau was asked to send additional materials to DCCA in support of the application.

McClure said approval had been held up because of a legal question raised by DCCA attorneys over whether the convention bureau met a requirement in state law that it be in existence by Jan. 1, 1985.

Although the current Growth Association and its subsidiary convention bureau were not formally set up until Jan. 18, 1985, incorporation papers had been filed in November 1984 and DCCA previously approved a grant in 1985 for tourism brochures put out by the association.

The association has also sent additional documentation to DCCA noting predecessor organizations had been actively promoting tourism in the area since at least 1977.

DCCA is also being sent additional information by the association on hotel rooms. The association plans to send more formal letters from mayors in area communities saying they want to be represented by the bureau for purposes of state certification.

DCCA has a $2 million fund for tourism promotion. Downstate certified convention bureaus, presently 25, are eligible for matching funds based on population, number of hotel rooms and other factors. The state funds come from hotel room taxes and a tax on soda.

The Alton bureau plans to use local hotel tax revenues as matching funds.

Currently, the Collinsville Convention and Visitors Bureau if certified to represent all of Madison County as well as St. Clair and Monroe counties.

The Collinsville bureau last fiscal year received $193,631 from the state fund for which the Alton bureau is now seeking to be certified, said Trish Marriott of DCCA.

Collinsville's share of the fund would be reduced if the Greater Alton/Twin Rivers bureau is certified, but McClure said he was not aware of any formal opposition by the Collinsville bureau to the Alton certification request.

"The Collinsville bureau has not been able to effectively represent the entire area. We feel this area has tremendous tourism potential and we're going to have to represent ourselves to really develop it," said Bruce Fairchild, president of the Alton bureau.

Fairchild, who has been working on the certification application with area legislators and DCCA officials for months, expressed frustration at the delay in getting it approved.

"We think we're eligible under the current legislation," he said.

He noted Gov. James Thompson, during a visit to Alton this spring, talked about the Alton area's tourist potential and the governor again mentioned Alton when he addressed a state tourism meeting in Springfield recently.

The state funds have not yet been distributed for this fiscal year and Marriott said she did not know how much Alton would receive if certified.

The Alton area to be served includes Alton, East Alton, Wood River, Godfrey, Roxana, South Roxana, Bethalto and Hartford.

Don't take crime prevention vacation while traveling

Vacationers are vulnerable to theft, robbery or assault, but chances of becoming a crime victim can be substantially reduced.

Before starting a trip, estimate vacation expenses. Never carry large amounts of cash. Purchase and carry sufficient travelers' checks and keep records. If checks are lost, they can be replaced.

Carry credit cards. Record numbers and leave the record in a safe place, apart from luggage. The numbers will be needed to report loss or theft.

Leave unnecessary valuable items at home. Make sure suitcases are permanently identified with name and address. Luggage should have locking devices.

Check homeowner's insurance to determine what coverage it provides while you are traveling or staying in a hotel or motel.

If traveling by automobile, empty the trunk of unnecessary items. Never leave anything valuable in the car unless it is stored in the locked trunk or covered storage well. If a car is turned over to a parking attendant or service station, leave only the ignition key. Make sure name and address are not imprinted on house keys or the key chain.

At the hotel, determine the direct route to the fire escapes, elevators and nearest hall phone. Linger in hallways or other isolated areas is an invitation for assault.

Host entertaining weekend with double batch of rice

Weekend entertaining is fun and exciting when it can be handled without extra work for the cook. A successful game plan to turn an ordinary dinner into something special calls for an intriguing but simple menu that focuses on one "star" recipe or serving idea.

When building menus around a special dish, remember that good, simple food, well-prepared and attractively served to guests is the first step to successful entertaining. Guests appreciate time spent with them, rather than time spent in the kitchen on elaborate meal preparation.

Fish Kabobs and Zucchini Brown Rice is an exciting meal duo for weekend guests. Fish cubes marinated in a pungent chili sauce pair up perfectly with savory, zucchini-flecked brown rice. There is a bonus, too. Enough rice is cooked for two meals, so half can be refrigerated for use later in Ham and Brown Rice Salad.

Fish kabobs and zucchini brown rice

- 1 jar (2 oz.) chopped pimiento, drained
- 1 medium zucchini, chopped
- 1 tsp. basil
- 1 time wedges
- 1 lb. cooked ham, cut into 1/2 inch cubes
- Combine rice, tomatoes, olives and parsley in large bowl.
- Combine oil, vinegar, sugar and tarragon. Mix well. Pour over rice mixture. Stir lightly to combine. Chill.
- Stir in ham just before serving. Makes 6 servings.

- 1 jar (2 oz.) chopped pimiento, drained
- 1 medium zucchini, chopped
- 1 tsp. basil
- 1 time wedges

Saute onion, celery and garlic in butter in large saucepan until tender. Add water. Bring to boil. Add rice and salt. Cover tightly. Cook over low heat until water is absorbed, about 30 minutes.

Combine chili sauce, wine, oil and red pepper flakes. Mix well. Pour over fish cubes in shallow baking dish. Marinate 20 minutes, turning occasionally.

Thread fish cubes on 6 wooden or metal skewers. Brush with marinade. Cook 4 to 6 inches from heat source, 7 to 9 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Turn once and baste during cooking.

Remove about 3 1/2 cups cooked rice. Cover and refrigerate.

Stir pimiento, zucchini and basil into remaining rice.

To serve, spoon rice onto serving platter. Place lime wedge on each skewer. Arrange kabobs over rice.

Makes 6 servings.

Ham and brown rice salad

About 3 1/2 cups chilled cooked brown rice

- 8 to 10 cherry tomatoes, cut in half
- 1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
- 1/4 cup minced parsley
- 1/2 cup oil
- 2 tbsp. red wine vinegar
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1/2 to 1 tsp. tarragon

MAKE ENOUGH rice for two meals, then invite friends to enjoy it in party-perfect dishes that help a busy weekend hostess enjoy the special occasion.

Teams of 10 or more chefs will create special recipes to produce succulent barbecue in three categories—pork, rib, pork shoulder and whole hog. Names of groups range from Ziggy's Pigs to Pork Avenue Bankers.

Opening ceremonies on Friday at noon will kick off the event with a special preview lunch for the media, dignitaries and the public. Saturday will highlight the Backyard Barbecue Competition with 100 finalists from the Schnuck Markets' Cook-Off for Best Barbecue in St. Louis, in the rib and pork steak categories. Later the professional barbecuers will entertain the crowds with light-hearted skits while being judged for showmanship. Activities will be held until 11 p.m. Friday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday.

This year tastes of the unique barbecue will be available. For 50-cent donations to Boys Town of Missouri, tickets may be purchased and given to selected cooks for a sample of their food. Signs will designate which compound is providing samples during limited time periods each day of the event.

Continuous entertainment will fill the area and the stages. Mimes, jugglers and traveling troubadours will perform. K-USA's band, The Road Show, will perform each day and other local bands will fill the air with the sounds of soft rock, country and western, bluegrass and jazz. On Sunday, the competitors will meet the judges—a show in itself. Each team greets a contingent of judges in its compound, seating them at tables set to match the theme of the cooking team. The head chef presents the meat while discussing his sauce and cooking techniques.

Each competitor also is judged by a blind-test system where the meat is judged only by number. The announcement of winners and presentations of trophies will be made late Sunday afternoon.

This year's picnic and barbecue competition is sponsored by the Louis Mull Co., K-USA Radio, Schnuck Markets, Sun Country Cooler and Kingsford Charcoal. The site of the event is between Market and Olive, 12th and 14th Streets, east of the Plaza Square Apartments.

Boys Town of Missouri Inc., a not-for-profit agency based in St. James, treats emotionally disturbed, socially maladjusted and academically handicapped boys through intensive therapy, residential living and remedial education.

Tomatoes, well worth saving, need extra acid in canning

A little bottled lemon juice may make the difference between safe home-canned tomatoes and those that could cause food poisoning.

"You can pressure can tomatoes without the added acid. But most people prefer to use a water bath canner for their tomatoes and tomato juice," she says.

The procedure is to add 1 tablespoon lemon juice to a pint or 2 tablespoons to a quart after the jars are filled with hot tomatoes.

The same procedure goes for the powdered citric acid. Add 1/4 teaspoon per pint or 1/2 teaspoon per quart to the top of the filled jar. Research shows there is no need to stir to distribute the acid evenly.

There are more instructions along with recipes for home-canning tomato sauce, ketchup, taco sauce and many more in a free extension publication, "Canning Tomatoes," GH 1456, available by contacting an extension center. Here is one of the recipes.

Taco sauce

3 cups tomatoes, peeled and chopped
 2 can yellow and green jalapeno peppers, seeded and chopped
 3/4 cup onion, chopped
 1 1/2 tsp. salt
 3 garlic cloves, minced
 1/4 cup vinegar

Combine tomatoes, jalapenos, onions, salt, cloves and vinegar. Bring to boil. Cover and simmer 5 minutes.

Pack in clean, hot jars. Use all the liquid, dividing it among jars.

Leave 1/2 inch headspace. Wipe rims, adjust lids and process in boiling water bath canner 20 minutes for half pint or pints. Do not can in jars larger than pint. Makes 4 half pints.

SHAPE INDIVIDUAL flour tortillas to hold a spicy mixture of shrimp chicken — along with cool fruits and avocado dressing.

Tortilla basket holds spicy shrimp salad

There is something delicious about every bite from Spicy Baskets.

Contrasting flavors of sweet pineapple and spicy marinated shrimp create an exciting taste experience. If desired, use large chunks of chicken breast instead of the shrimp. Thick tomato wedges, cantaloupe, crisp lettuce and a cool, creamy avocado dressing complete this special salad.

All these colorful ingredients

Spicy salad baskets

Lesla Mackin and Barbara Schaab inside the Mallinckrodt Mammography Mobile, which is staffed by Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology at Washington University Medical Center.

Mobile mammography van helps detect cancer early

Soon women throughout the metropolitan area will be able to take advantage of a less expensive, more convenient way to ensure their future health.

Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology launched its new mobile mammography van in a demonstration in downtown St. Louis early last week.

The van is one of only a few such vehicles in the country — the concept has been tried successfully in Chicago and San Francisco. It will offer lower-cost mammograms (breast X-rays) and information on the importance of early detection of breast cancer.

During dedication ceremonies for the van last week, Donald N. Brundin, chairman and chief executive officer of Boatmen's Bancshares Inc., said corporations can and should provide on-site wellness programs for their employees. Boatmen's is underwriting the cost of mammograms for its 500 women employees.

Dr. Judy Destouet, head of mammography at Mallinckrodt, said that among women from Boatmen's being tested several would be found to have breast cancer that had not been detected by a physical exam.

"The main advantage of a mammogram is that it can detect breast cancer very early, before it can be felt by either the woman or her physician," said Destouet.

"That allows us to offer a woman therapeutic options," she said. "She may not need a mastectomy; a much lesser surgical procedure may be all that is necessary at that point."

But statistics show that few women undergo mammograms as often as doctors recommend them.

"Only 10 to 15 percent of the eligible female population is getting mammograms," Destouet said. "We have a lifesaving tool available that women aren't using."

The major barrier to mammograms seems to be inconvenience, Destouet said. "Having to go to a hospital or clinic is inconvenient. We're trying to make it more convenient with the mobile unit."

With the help of a mammogram, doctors can detect breast cancer 2½ to 3 years before a mass can be felt, Destouet said. That's an important factor in curing breast cancer, the doctor said. "If a woman presents a cancerous lump in her breast, there is a 50 percent chance that it has already spread beyond her breast to the lymph nodes under her arm," Destouet said. "If she is unfortunate enough to have that happen, she has a 50 percent chance of dying in five years and a 90 percent chance of dying in 10 years. The prognosis is very poor."

But if doctors are able to use a mammogram to detect the cancer before it becomes evident in the form of a lump, a woman has a 92 percent chance of living for 20 years, she said.

"We're talking about a significant increase in a cancer victim's survival rate," Destouet said. The physician emphasized that the potential benefits of a mammogram far outweigh the risk of exposure to radiation.

"We use very little X-ray, the lowest radiation dose available," Destouet said. "And it won't take very long to have the X-ray taken, only about 15 or 20 minutes."

Mallinckrodt officials say they are only breaking even on the cost of the mammograms.

Mammograms offered in the van will cost $30; they typically cost between $100 and $150 and are not covered by insurance unless they are part of a doctor's diagnostic testing, Destouet said.

But officials at Mallinckrodt Institute of Radiology are hopeful companies in Missouri and Illinois will sponsor a stop for the van at their plants.

The Mallinckrodt Institute, which is part of the Washington University Medical Center, is sponsoring the van because officials there want area women to recognize the need for mammograms, Destouet said.

For more information on where the van will be stopping or details how companies can sponsor tests for their employees, call Suzanne Staffenson in the Community Relations Department of the Mallinckrodt Institute at (314) 382-2667.

November voting on nursing home

A few years from now, Madison County residents living in a new, combined sheltered care and nursing home facility may be able to get an ice cream sundae by simply walking down the hall and asking for one.

The Madison County Board on Wednesday authorized a referendum which will ask voters to approve a $6.5 million bond issue for the new combined facility in November's election.

Construction would take place in 1988 at a county-owned site on Hwy. 100 in Edwardsville.

IF BUILT, the new home may include an ice cream shop which would make the treat available to residents year-round. Such a shop is in the current plans.

But Madison County Director of Administration Jim Monday said those plans are still tentative and that the shop may or may not be a part of the finished facility.

The board voted 25 to 2 in favor of putting the referendum before county voters. Board members Harold Byers, Highland, and Vasil Eltimoff, Granite City, voted against the move.

Byers told the board it needs to decide whether the county should be in the nursing home business at all. He said he still has questions concerning the cost of operating the facility if it is built.

"THE BONDS are for $6.5 million, but with interest over 20 years, it will be much more. And how much is it going to cost to run it?" Byers said.

Board chairman Nelson Hagman said voters should decide if the new facility will be built. "But, if this is turned down in November, I think we're going to have to take a strong look at getting out of it (operating a nursing home)."

The $6.5 million figure includes the cost of site surveys, soil borings, construction, furnishings, equipment and cost of issuing the bonds.

MONDAY SAID early last week that the figure is "a good estimate of the maximum costs. We want to put a figure before the voters that would be sufficient."

The resolution says the $6.5 million estimate cannot be exceeded. John DeMartini of The Hoffman Partnership, the firm hired to do initial plans for the home, said a 4 percent inflation factor is built into the estimate.

"At this point, we need to know we have enough money. We certainly don't have to issue all the bonds if they aren't needed," Monday said.

"We almost have to wait maybe until we get construction bids before we start issuing."

THE BOARD also approved a resolution hiring Centerra Bank as financial adviser for the bond issue and Bryan, Cave, McPheeters and McRoberts as bond counsel. Centerra will receive 30 cents per $100 of bonds issued.

The bond counsel will get an initial fee of up to $1,000. A final fee for the firm will be determined once the bond issue is approved.

The county board's buildings, finance and health institutions committees have been looking at construction of a new combined facility for the last few months.

CURRENTLY, the nursing home and sheltered care facility are separate. Officials have complained that the buildings are inefficient and dilapidated.

The county has spent about $750,000 in the last five years in repairs to the two facilities.

The new facility would have 65 beds for shelter care residents, 100 beds for intermediate care patients and a wing for 35 beds for skilled-care patients.

THE COUNTY is not now licensed to take on skilled-care patients because the present nursing home is not equipped for it under state regulations.

Other features planned for the new facility include a new room plan that allows the residents more privacy and space as well as community space within the rooms.

Monday said he did not know if home residents would be charged for the use of the ice cream shop is included. He said access to the shop might be part of the fee charged to residents.

DEMARTINI SAID inclusion of the shop would be part of a total "concept of living needs" used to design the facility.

"It's an attempt to make their stay more palatable," he said. He told a joint meeting of the board committees earlier last week that a similar shop had been placed in a nursing home in Texas with good results.

Chi-town/St. Loo always fight it out

Familiarity breeds contempt, or so the experts say. One of the great things in sports is the matter of rivalries. Locally, the rivalry between Granite City and Collinsville has reached a fever pitch in the last two years. And Madison and Venice have slugged it out in some classic basketball games over the years.

Two things contribute to any great rivalry: Proximity and repetition. In other words, two teams who are located fairly close to one another and play each other all the time are most likely to build up a rivalry.

One or both of those factors have to play a part. The Pittsburgh Steelers and the Oakland/Los Angeles Raiders aren't very close, but they played each other often in the 1970's, particularly in the playoffs. That rivalry got downright ugly at times. Dallas and Washington aren't close, but they meet twice a year on the football field, and the fur always flies.

The Chicago Bears and St. Louis Cardinals don't meet that much anymore on the football field, but when they do, things can get out of hand. It was gang warfare at aptly-named Soldier Field — on the waterfront — Saturday night. William Perry of the Bears thought he was in Wrestlemania 3 as he body-slammed Neil "The Animal" Lomax to the canvas, er, turf, in the second quarter. Luis "Superfly" Sharpe came to his partner's rescue.

The wildest brawl broke out in the third quarter when Lionel "The Bruiser" Washington, Otis "Juice" Anderson, Charlie "Avalanche" Baker and Keith "The Savage" Van Horne ignited a wild brawl on the Cardinal sidelines.

But it's all part of this area's favorite pro rivalry. St. Louis and Kansas City would be the most logical rivalry, but KC never had anything in the way of a major sports franchise until just 40 years ago.

And now, St. Louis has a hockey team, but KC doesn't. Neither city now has a basketball team. The Chiefs and Cardinals are in different conferences, and their only regular meeting is a boring exercise each August called the Governor's Cup.

The Cardinals and Royals never see each other, with the exception of last October. And the World Series had no feelings of hostility between the two cities or teams. It was too nice. How many fans said if their team couldn't win, it would be nice to see the other guys win? What kind of an attitude is that? And because so many people involved were once with the other side (Whitey Herzog, Darrell Porter, Steve Braun, Dane Iorg and Lonnie Smith), it was almost like a family reunion. Sickenin'.

But Chicago and St. Louis, ah, that's something else. The heavy rivalry stuff is for the fans. I've always believed that. The Bears and Cardinals have no heavy rivalry, because they're not in the same division.

But although the fans have the most fun at Cardinal-Cub games and Blues-Black Hawk games, there is a good rivalry on the field/ice. The Cardinals and Cubs are in the same division, and usually one team is trying to knock the other out of the race. Just think how exciting it will be when they both are in it in September one year. And the Blues and Black Hawks are always competing for the Norris Division title. They have also met many times in the playoffs, but the Black Hawks have won all four of those encounters.

If you think those rivalries mean nothing to the players,

Warriors put wraps on rugged camp

GCHS to hold scrimmage on Friday night

By Gregg Ochoa
Executive Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — The football Warriors adjourned "Camp Yates" Monday, and with it said goodbye to three-day practice sessions.

Starting Tuesday — the first day of school — Granite City is working out one time each day. The Warriors are just nine days away from the beginning of the season. Granite City hosts Cahokia on Friday, Sept. 5, at Memorial Stadium.

This year's pre-season workouts have been probably the best in Yates' tenure as the varsity coach. For the most part, the players arrived at camp in shape and willing to work. The off-season weight program instituted by the coach paid early dividends.

"I put the word out in February that we would (practice) three times a day," Yates said. "I think it got their attention and they really worked hard during the winter to prepare for them."

In fact, the Warriors' conditioning may have been a strong factor in the team's late-season drive that produced wins over Alton, Cahokia and Belleville East.

"We were a little stronger in the fourth quarter when some of the other teams were wearing down," Yates said.

This year, Yates decided to drill three times a day, feeling his team needed the extra work to remain sharp.

"Also, we have some younger players, and I know they will make some mistakes, and we can use that time to work on things," the coach said.

Yates felt the extra practice session helped his team become a more tight-knit unit. "It helped with the discipline and it brought the team closer together," he said.

Luckily, the Warriors have escaped the rash of injuries that have plagued them in the past. "Knock on wood," Yates said.

"But we feel we are very fortunate so far. I just hope it doesn't come back to haunt me. This is the first time we've gotten through two days without any major injuries to our starters."

Last season, Tracy McElroy went down with a knee injury and Dave Nurn also got hurt. In 1984, an ankle injury sidelined Kurt Ilylla for the season.

Granite City conducted a light scrimmage last Saturday, which tallied about three quarters of actual game time.

This Friday the Warriors will

LISTEN UP: Granite City head football coach Ron Yates talks to his team during a practice session last week at the high school. The season opener is only nine days away. The Warriors play Cahokia at home at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 5.

divide the squad up and hold a full-contact scrimmage under the lights. The exercise will start at 7:30 p.m.

"We are going to give a few people another look and hopefully answer some questions," Yates said.

Competition is spirited in several areas as 51 players still remain on the squad. Yates has only lost two since Aug. 18.

"I don't think I'm going to make any cuts," the coach said. Still, by no means are jobs safe. The Warriors have instituted a new philosophy where the best athlete plays.

"It might mean that we could have three to six guys go both ways, but that's the way we are going to play it," he said.

The new policy — was implemented to allow the Warriors to field its strongest possible team.

"It will also make some guys work a little harder to earn a starting spot or even a place on the special teams," Yates said. "I felt like some of them were getting too lackadaisical."

As the opening of the season draws near, there are still some questions to be answered.

"Our defense is pretty wide open. We have people fighting for positions as linebackers and at defensive end," Yates said. There are still openings for the placekicking and punting job.

"We have three or four guys battling there," Yates said.

For the most part, Yates was pleased with the camp. The coach felt the players came in prepared to work.

"The attitude has been real good," Yates said. "I'm pleased."

NOTES: The Warriors elected quad-captains on Saturday for the 1986 season. They are Tim Hogan, Jamie Hogan, Tim Davis and John Kabbentian.

Instructional football camp is this fall

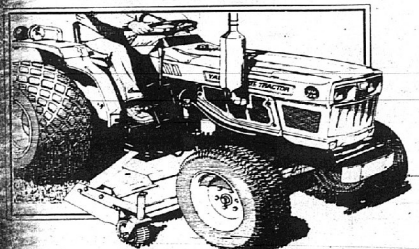

The Granite City Park District is offering a non-contact instructional football camp in the fall. Instruction will be provided by a volunteer staff that includes professional athletes and retired educators Keith Parker and John Torgerson. In conjunction with Don Harris, Pat Harris, Eric Robertson and Larry Curry, they will work to create a camp that promotes recreation and sportsmanship. Games, drills and activities will stress proper technique for executing basic football skills, exercise, agility and speed. Granite City High School head football coach Ron Yates will function as an advisor. Coach Yates has planned special activities for the camp participants.

with the varsity football players. The camp starts Sept. 6, and will continue for eight consecutive Saturday mornings. Fourth and fifth grade students are invited to attend the 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. session. Sixth and seventh grade students are asked to attend the 10:30 a.m. to noon session. The camp will be conducted on the varsity practice field behind the press box.

No fee will be charged, and registration will remain open through the camp. Participants are not required to attend all eight sessions. The camp is designed to develop football skills, not emphasize league play. The instruction will include controlled team play; however, equipment such as helmets and shoulder pads will not be a requirement. For additional information, contact Dave Price, recreation supervisor, at 877-3089.

Waterfowl population up, but still below 30-year average

The number of breeding ducks has increased this year following improved habitat conditions in Canada and the north-central U.S. The duck population also has been bolstered by a 27 percent reduction in last autumn's duck harvest due to a shorter season and more restrictive limits.

But while improved over 1985, breeding populations of some important species, such as mallards and pintails, are still well below their average for the past 30 years.

According to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, mallard breeding populations in surveyed areas increased to 6.35 million—16 percent over last year's record low of 5.5 million—but still 24 percent below the average for the previous three decades. Pintails increased to 3.2 million, up 9 percent over last year but 44 percent below their 30-year average.

Blue-winged teal increased 24 percent over last year, while gadwall, green-winged teal, shovellers and redheads also showed increases. Wigeon and scaup numbers are about the same as last year. Canvasbacks have increased about 8 percent, but remain 22 percent below their long-term average.

The improvement in the duck population this year is welcome but should be interpreted with caution, says Frank Dunkle, service director for the wildlife service.

"This is only one year's data," Dunkle says. "It doesn't necessarily mean we are seeing the beginning of a trend toward increasing duck numbers, although we certainly hope this is the case."

"We can't credit all of the increase to last year's more restrictive hunting regulations. The increase is probably due to better habitat conditions in some key nesting areas and last autumn's reduced harvest."

More good waterfowl news comes from Missouri Department of Conservation, where biologists report that the Canada goose population this summer has been good on the Canadian breeding grounds.

"This is the third year in a row of good production," says Dale Hamburg, chief waterfowl biologist for the department. "Hunters in Manitoba, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri can look for more young birds coming down this autumn."

Hunting success generally is better with more young geese in the autumn flight because the young birds respond to calling and decoy spreads far better than older, wiser birds that already have had shot thrown at them.

Although the Swan Lake zone in north-central Missouri hasn't filled its quota in 10 years, hunting last year was better than previously and should be even better this year with more young birds in the flock.

Outdoor Tips

An outdoorsman needs several good places to hunt and fish. To keep such locations, show the landowner the same consideration you'd like. A small gift of fruit, candy, cake or a box of shotgun shells goes a long way toward showing your appreciation, as does a greeting card at Christmas, and an off-season phone call just to say hello.

It's often possible to bag ducks far from popular duck country with no more equipment than a gun, shells and hip boots. The wood duck often is found along wooded creeks and streams in both farm country and the Ozarks. Farm ponds with heavily vegetated shorelines also are choice places to investigate. And if there's a stream nearby, so much the better. You can hunt these woodies by slipping in close enough to jump shoot them, or, if no ducks are present in a known loafing or roosting area, by hiding in cover an hour or so before sunset.

When hip boots and waders are worn out, it's generally that thin section above the knees. You can make usable knee-length, pull-on boots from what's left by cutting them off just below the knees.

When bluegill become finicky feeders and refuse standard baits such as worms and crickets, try a piece of meat from a crayfish tail—just enough to cover the bend and point of a No. 10 hook.

This often works like a charm on lockjaw bluegill.

You'll hook and land more fish if you regularly check the hooks on your lures. Sharp hooks mean easier and deeper penetration past the barbs, resulting in a higher percentage of fish landed. A small sharpening stone is fine for touching up pointy hooks. But for large bass hooks use a small auto points file.
